

THE CAFETERIA MYSTERY

An Unofficial Investigation

DOCUMENT NOT FOR DISTRIBUTION

DISCLAIMER: This document was found in the personal effects of [name withheld]. It does not represent official Teleport Massive positions. The author's current whereabouts are unknown.

The Observations

I've been at Site-Delta-9 for six months now. Like everyone else, I noticed the cafeteria food is... remarkable. Too remarkable.

- The soup is always perfect
- The bread is always fresh
- Every meal is exactly what you wanted
- No one ever gets sick

This is not normal.

The Investigation

I started keeping notes:

Date	Observation
Day 15	Noticed the menu changes before I realize what I want
Day 23	Asked for ingredients. Chef smiled but didn't answer.
Day 31	Followed supply truck. It came from [REDACTED].
Day 45	Tried to enter kitchen. Door wouldn't open.
Day 52	Found no delivery records for food supplies.

The Questions

1. Where does the food come from?

- No visible deliveries
- No supplier contracts on file
- Storage areas are always “off-limits”

2. Why is it so good?

- Professional chefs? (checked credentials — none exist)
- Special ingredients? (can’t identify some flavors)
- Something else?

3. Why won’t anyone talk about it?

- Asked HR: “The cafeteria is well-managed.”
- Asked Security: “That’s not a security concern.”
- Asked Dr. Chen: He changed the subject immediately.

Theories

Theory 1: Quantum Food Generation

The food is created using teleportation technology. It’s not delivered — it’s materialized. This would explain the lack of supply chain and the impossible freshness.

Theory 2: Scint Stabilization

The food is a by-product of Scint research. When reality fractures are stabilized, something is created. That something is edible.

Theory 3: [REDACTED]

I’ve heard whispers about the Void Room. About something that lives there. Something that needs to be... fed? Or something that provides?

The Warning

I’m leaving this document where someone will find it. I’ve been asking too many questions. Yesterday, the cafeteria served my favorite meal from childhood — a meal I’ve never told anyone about.

They know what I’m doing.

If you’re reading this:

- Don’t ask about the food
- Don’t investigate the kitchen
- Don’t refuse to eat

Just eat. Be grateful. And don’t look too closely at what’s in the soup.

[Document ends here. Several pages appear to have been removed.]