

Philosophical Reflections

On Time

Time is not a river. It is a vast ocean, and we are but waves upon its surface, rising and falling, each moment unique yet part of the whole.

What does it mean to exist in time? We experience moments sequentially, yet memory allows us to revisit the past, and imagination lets us glimpse the future.

On Knowledge

The more we learn, the more we realize how little we know. This paradox drives the pursuit of understanding, creating an endless cycle of discovery.